

Minutes of P-10 Committee on Integrated Passive Devices

October 7, 2008

Red Lion Hotel

Salt Lake City, UT

P-10 Committee's Scope:

Will provide technical support and develops standards and specifications for electronic devices using mixed passive product technologies and diodes that perform a passive function, e.g., a) resistors and capacitors; b) resistors and diodes; c) resistors, capacitors, and inductors.

These devices may be discrete components that are "integrated" on a common substrate (hybrid) or in a carrier formed by a common manufacturing process (monolithic).

Activities also include the generation of terms and definitions, review of specifications, establishment of new specification criteria, and maintenance of existing criteria relating to these devices.

To accomplish these functions, the committee maintains liaison with and uses technical information from other standards development organizations (SDOs), government agencies, industry, various professional organizations, participating members, and guests.
